62 Venue in this judicial district is therefore proper under 28 U.S.C. §1391.

7. Introductory Statement of Claim

7.1 Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the 5 drownings and the flooding of 14 homes on Timber Drive in the Pinewood subdivision of the City of Palestine in Anderson County, Texas, during the early morning hours of April 30, 2016.

7.2 The Pinewood subdivision is built on a gradual slope, with Timber Drive leading down the middle of the slope to a cul-de-sac at the basin of this subdivision.

7.3 These homes surrounded the cul-de-sac at the basin of the Pinewood subdivision and the lower portion of Timber Drive.

7.4 The lowest end of this basin in the Pinewood subdivision is bordered by a 26-foot-high, man-made, earthen embankment or berm supporting railroad tracks.

7.5 This 26-foot-high earthen embankment or railroad berm was constructed by Defendant Union Pacific Railroad Company ("Defendant UP") or its predecessor corporation on its railroad easement or right of way through the City of Palestine.

7.6 At the base of this 26-foot-high earthen embankment or railroad berm is a single drainage culvert, which runs underneath the berm from one side of the railroad tracks to the other side of the railroad tracks.

7.7 This drainage culvert is approximately five feet in diameter and approximately 90 feet in length.

7.8 A natural creek and man-made drainage ditches, which provide the drainage system for the Pinewood subdivision, lead into this single culvert at the base of this railroad berm.

7.9 Rainwater draining from the Pinewood subdivision must flow through this single drainage culvert to safely pass through this railroad berm on this railroad easement.

7.10 This drainage culvert was originally installed to discharge the railroad's legal duty to permit natural waterways and rainwater to pass through its easement without causing damage to the surrounding community.

7.11 Based upon information and belief, this drainage culvert was constructed of corrugated metal pipe and was originally installed in approximately 1930.

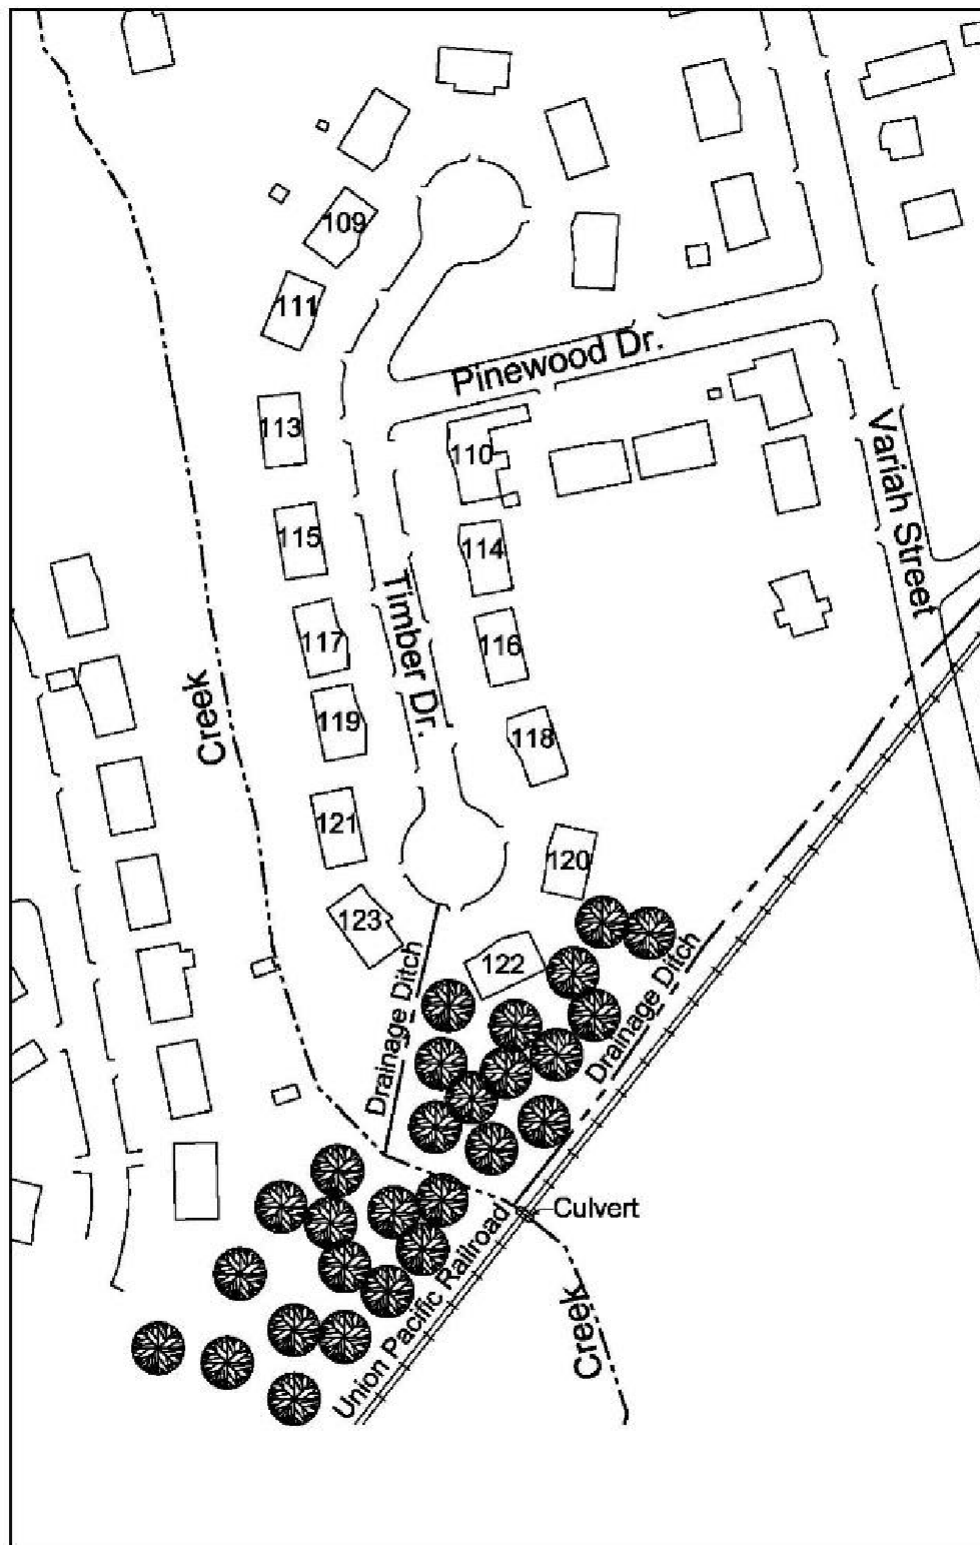

7.12 Based upon information and belief, this drainage culvert was never repaired, structurally modified, or replaced after its installation in 1930.

7.13 This drainage culvert is unmarked, but it can be found at approximately Mile Post 1.57, and behind the Plaintiffs' homes at 122 and 123 Timber Drive.

7.14 This 26-foot-high, man-made, earthen embankment or railroad berm, the railroad tracks on top of it, and the single drainage culvert at the base of this railroad berm were at all material times on Defendant UP's easement or right of way and owned, operated, or under the control of Defendant UP.

7.15 The Pinewood subdivision was developed around 1979 on private property adjoining Defendant UP's existing easement and railroad tracks.

7.16 Approximately 25 homes were eventually built in the Pinewood subdivision before the flood in question as illustrated below.

(Illustration of the Timber Drive neighborhood in the Pinewood subdivision.)

7.17 Based upon information and belief, Defendant UP undertook to enlarge its single drainage culvert after the Pinewood subdivision was developed.

7.18 Based upon information and belief, Defendant UP undertook to enlarge its single drainage culvert to discharge its continuing legal duty to safely accommodate the expected increase in waterflow through the drainage system.

7.19 Based upon information and belief, Defendant UP only enlarged the diameter of its single drainage culvert from 48 inches to 60 inches.

8. The Condition of Defendant Union Pacific Railroad Company's Culvert

8.1 Defendant UP's single drainage culvert at the base of its 26-foot-high railroad berm was obstructed or clogged with debris at all material times.

8.2 In trimming the trees beside its railroad tracks on its right of way, Defendant UP discarded tree limbs, branches, and other vegetation onto its culvert or into its drainage ditch which eventually blocked its culvert.

8.3 In replacing old railroad ties along its tracks, Defendant UP discarded its old railroad ties onto its culvert or into its drainage ditch which eventually blocked its culvert.

8.4 Defendant UP's culvert was in need of repair, improvement, or replacement as evidenced by separations in its culvert, crushing of its culvert, and uneven settlement in or around its culvert.

8.5 After heavy rainfalls, water would routinely pool around Defendant UP's culvert and back up into the drainage ditches and natural creek leading into its culvert until the water was able to seep through its culvert.

8.6 Vegetation had grown up around Defendant UP's culvert, which would have obstructed any attempt by Defendant UP's employees to visually inspect its culvert from the railroad tracks on top of the berm as they passed by the culvert.

8.7 A greenbelt consisting of dense rows of trees separated Defendant UP's railroad easement from the Pinewood subdivision and this greenbelt obstructed a view of this culvert on Defendant UP's property by the residents of this subdivision.

9. The Flood Caused by the Condition of Defendant Union Pacific Railroad Company's Culvert

9.1 Heavy rains fell in and around the Pinewood subdivision during the evening hours of April 29 and the early morning hours of April 30, 2016.

9.2 When these heavy rains fell that night, Defendant UP's blocked culvert functioned like a plugged drain for the basin of this subdivision, which resulted in Defendant UP's 26-foot-high railroad berm functioning like a dam by rapidly impounding the rainwater that could not flow through the culvert.

9.3 Defendant UP's diversion or impoundment of the natural flow of rainwater through the Pinewood subdivision caused the impounded rainwater to quickly rise to the roofs of some of the homes along Timber Drive.

10. The Drowning of Lenda Asberry and Her Great-Grandchildren

10.1 Lenda Asberry and her great-grandchildren, Vonnaejah Sari-Nicole Johnson, De'Vonte Antoine Johnson, VonAnthony Darnell Watkins, Jr., and Ja'Monica La'Shay Johnson, lived at 121 Timber Drive at the time of this flood.

10.2 When Lenda Asberry awakened that night to the suddenly rising rainwater in her home, she escaped from her home with her four great-grandchildren.

10.3 Some of the other adult Plaintiffs in the neighborhood escaped the rapidly rising rainwater by climbing onto the roofs of their homes that night.

10.4 Although she heroically struggled to do so, Lenda Asberry could not keep all four of her great-grandchildren above the swiftly rising rainwater and all five eventually drowned in the darkness outside of her home on Timber Drive on April 30, 2016.

11. The Property Damage from the Flood

11.1 The surviving Plaintiffs and Intervenor, who owned or rented homes on Timber Drive, sustained severe water damage to their homes and/or destruction of their personal property within their homes on or about April 30, 2016.

11.2 These Plaintiffs and Intervenor owned or rented homes at 109, 110, 111, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 122, and 123 Timber Drive.

11.3 The following Plaintiffs and Intervenor sustained more than $1,270,660.37 in water damage to the homes they owned, as listed below:

William Adcock	—	118 Timber Drive
Carolyn & Johnny Anthony	—	109 Timber Drive
Berto Clark	—	117 Timber Drive
Lisa & Jimmy Davis	—	114 Timber Drive
Jamie & Tony Handsborough	—	119 Timber Drive
Gloria Henry	—	115 Timber Drive
Dolores Moore	—	111 and 123 Timber Drive
Concepcion Ramirez	—	116 Timber Drive
Anita Ruiz & Horacio Olvera	—	113 Timber Drive
Lillie Stephens	—	120 Timber Drive

Barbara Willis	—	122 Timber Drive
Garland & Jannie Wilson	—	110 Timber Drive

11.4 The following Plaintiffs and Intervenor sustained more than $969,961.80 in damage to their personal property in or about their homes, which they owned or rented, as listed below:

Carolyn & Johnny Anthony	—	109 Timber Drive
Joe Asberry	—	121 Timber Drive
Linda & Henry Buckley	—	118 Timber Drive
Berto Clark	—	117 Timber Drive
Lisa & Jimmy Davis	—	114 Timber Drive
Deffnie Franks	—	122 Timber Drive
Jamie & Tony Handsborough	—	119 Timber Drive
Gloria Henry	—	115 Timber Drive
Gerald Jordan & Metra White	—	123 Timber Drive
Wanda Moore	—	111 Timber Drive
Concepcion Ramirez	—	116 Timber Drive
Anita Ruiz & Horacio Olvera	—	113 Timber Drive
Lillie Stephens	—	120 Timber Drive
Garland & Jannie Wilson	—	110 Timber Drive

12. The Nuisance Created by the Flood

12.1 This impounded rainwater or flood created a common law “nuisance” or condition that substantially interfered with the use and enjoyment of the Plaintiffs’ and Intervenors' homes on Timber Drive by causing unreasonable discomfort or annoyance to persons of ordinary sensibilities attempting to use and enjoy such homes.

12.2 All of the Plaintiffs and Intervenors who owned or lived in homes on Timber Drive have lost peace of mind and experienced annoyance and discomfort because of this nuisance, which Defendant UP failed to prevent, repair, and/or abate.

13. Defendant Union Pacific Railroad Company
Violated the U.S. Code of Federal Regulations

13.1 The U.S. Code of Federal Regulations prescribed the minimum safety requirements for the conduct of Defendant UP at all material times.

13.2 Compliance with the minimum requirements of the U.S. Code of Federal Regulations by Defendant UP would have prevented the failure of its drainage system and culvert as well as the flooding of the Timber Drive neighborhood in the Pinewood subdivision.

13.3 Defendant UP did not comply with the minimum requirements of the U.S. Code of Federal Regulations. For example:

- (a) Defendant UP did not keep its water carrying facility or culvert free of obstruction to accommodate expected waterflow as required by 49 C.F.R. §213.33.
- (b) Defendant UP did not maintain its water carrying facility or culvert to accommodate expected waterflow as required by 49 C.F.R. §213.33.
- (c) Defendant UP did not regularly inspect its culvert as required by 49 C.F.R. §213.233(b).
- (d) Defendant UP did not inspect its culvert as soon as possible after prior severe storms as required by 49 C.F.R. §213.239.

- (e) If Defendant UP ever inspected its culvert during the relevant time period, it did not immediately initiate remedial action as required by 49 C.F.R. §213.233(d).
- (f) If Defendant UP ever inspected its culvert, based upon information and belief, it did not use qualified persons to inspect its culvert as required by 49 C.F.R. §213.

14. Defendant Union Pacific Railroad Company
Violated Its Own Safety Rules and Policies

14.1 Defendant UP had created safety plans, rules, or standards under 49 C.F.R. §213 to show it was complying with the U.S. Code of Federal Regulations.

14.2 These safety plans, rules, or standards included but were not limited to Defendant UP's Engineering Track Maintenance Field Handbook (a/k/a Field Handbook), its Engineering Structures Field Manual, its Maintenance of Way Rules, its General Code of Operating Rules, its Guidelines for Railroad Grade Separation Projects, its Engineering Standards, and its Structures Procedures, Tests and Standards.

14.3 Defendant UP's compliance with these safety plans, rules, or standards would have prevented the failure of its drainage system and culvert and the flooding of the Timber Drive neighborhood in the Pinewood subdivision.

14.4 Defendant UP did not comply with its own safety plans, rules, or standards during the relevant time period. For example:

- (a) Defendant UP did not keep its culvert and waterways clear of debris and obstructions that would hinder waterflow through its culvert as required by Sections 1.2.1, 1.3.3, and 6.7 of its Field Handbook as well as Section 46.10.1 of its Maintenance of Way Rules.

- (b) When trimming trees along its right of way, Defendant UP discarded this material on the slopes of its railroad berm where it would wash into its drainage ditches and block drainage through its culvert, which is prohibited by Section 46.10.2 of its Maintenance of Way Rules.
- (c) When a washout occurred near its culvert, it did not take the remedial action required by Section 1.3.3 of its Field Handbook.
- (d) Defendant UP did not make sure that its culvert was large enough to handle the maximum anticipated waterflow as required by Section 1.3.3 of its Field Handbook.
- (e) Defendant UP did not enlarge its culvert to handle the maximum anticipated waterflow as required by Section 1.2.1 and 1.3.3 of its Field Handbook.
- (f) Defendant UP did not make sure that there were enough culverts at this location to handle the maximum anticipated waterflow as required by Section 1.3.3 of its Field Handbook.
- (g) Defendant UP did not install additional or larger culverts to handle the maximum anticipated waterflow at this location as required by Section 1.3.3 of its Field Handbook.
- (h) Based upon information and belief, Defendant UP did not perform a complete hydrologic and hydraulic study of its drainage system and culvert as required by Section 4.5 of its Guidelines for Railroad Grade Separation Projects.

- (i) Defendant UP did not comply with the applicable hydraulic criteria for its drainage system and culvert as required by Section 4.5.2 of its Guidelines for Railroad Grade Separation Projects.
- (j) When there was an indication of a storm or high water that may cause an unsafe condition, Defendant UP did not keep informed of current weather forecasts or conditions and determine how high the water would crest above or below the flood stage as required by Section 8.9.10 of its Field Handbook.
- (k) When there was an indication of a storm or high water that may cause an unsafe condition on this occasion, Defendant UP did not place a watchman at this culvert as required by Section 46.2 of its Maintenance of Way Rules.
- (l) During the storm in question, Defendant UP did not patrol this section of track as required by Section 46.2.1 of its Maintenance of Way Rules.
- (m) During heavy rainfall or runoff, Defendant UP did not monitor its culvert to make sure that it could handle the flow of water as required by Section 1.2.1 of its Field Handbook.
- (n) When washouts occurred along its right of way during previous heavy rainfall runoffs, Defendant UP did not determine whether its culvert was obstructed and remove the obstructions as required by Section 1.3.3 of its Field Handbook.
- (o) Defendant UP did not control the vegetation along its right of way, as required by Section 6.2.1 of its Field Handbook, so the vegetation would not interfere with its employees performing their normal inspection duties.

- (p) Defendant UP did not conduct regular visual inspections of its culvert as required by Sections 8.5 and 8.6 of its Field Handbook.
- (q) After previous severe storms, which might have damaged its culvert, Defendant UP did not conduct special inspections to evaluate the condition of its culvert and the volume of excessive drift and debris in its culvert obstructing waterflow as required by Sections 8.9, 8.9.9, and 8.9.10 of its Field Handbook.
- (r) Defendant UP did not mark its culvert with a sign beside its railroad tracks, as illustrated in Standard Drawing 0507B of its Engineering Standards, so that its employees could find, monitor, and inspect its culvert.
- (s) If Defendant UP's employees ever inspected its culvert during the relevant time period, they did not notify the train dispatcher or other appropriate authorities of the defective or unsafe condition of the culvert as required by Section 6.21.1 of its General Code of Operating Rules.
- (t) If Defendant UP ever inspected its culvert during the relevant time period, it did not take appropriate remedial action as required by Section 8.5.9 of its Field Handbook.
- (u) If Defendant UP ever inspected its culvert, based upon information and belief, it did not use qualified persons to inspect its culvert as required by Section 8.3.1 of its Field Handbook.

- (v) Defendant UP did not keep its drainage system and culvert in safe condition as required by Section 1.24 of its General Code of Operating Rules.

15. Defendant Union Pacific Railroad Company
Violated the Texas Water Code

15.1 The condition of Defendant UP's drainage system and culvert on its right of way diverted or impounded the natural flow of rainwater through the drainage basin for the Pinewood subdivision and along Timber Drive in violation of the Tex. Water Code Ann. §11.086.

15.2 Defendant UP knew or should have known that rainwater flowing through the drainage basin for the Pinewood subdivision and along Timber Drive was being or would be diverted or impounded by the condition of its drainage system and culvert, and it permitted this diversion or impounding to occur and to continue through this flood in violation of Tex. Water Code Ann. §11.086.

16. Defendant Union Pacific Railroad Company
Violated the City of Palestine Code of Ordinances

16.1 The acts or omissions of Defendant UP as described above obstructed the drainage of the City of Palestine in violation of Section 94-174 of the City of Palestine Code of Ordinances.

16.2 Moreover, the condition of Defendant UP's drainage system and culvert on its right-of-way were not maintained by Defendant UP at all material times as required by Section 40-152 of the City of Palestine Code of Ordinances.

16.3 Furthermore, the existing creeks and drainage channels on Defendant UP's right-of-way did not remain as open channels at all material times as required by Section 40-152 of the City of Palestine Code of Ordinances.

16.4 In addition, Defendant UP failed to keep its drainage system and culvert on its right-of-way free from stagnant water, rubbish, and trash as required by Section 46-54 of the City of Palestine Code of Ordinances.

17. Negligence Per Se Claims

17.1 Defendant UP violated the administrative regulations, city ordinances, and legislative enactment as described above.

17.2 The administrative regulations, city ordinances, and legislative enactment were designed in part to prevent harm to persons and property on adjoining private land.

17.3 The decedents and the surviving Plaintiffs residing on Timber Drive belonged to the class of persons the administrative regulations, city ordinances, and legislative enactment were intended to protect.

17.4 Defendant UP's unexcused violation of each of the aforementioned administrative regulations, city ordinances, and legislative enactment constituted negligence per se, and each or all of these violations were a proximate cause of the flood, nuisance, property damage, and deaths in question and Plaintiffs' resulting damages.

18. Common Law Negligence Claims

18.1 Defendant UP was negligent in not keeping its culvert and its drainage system on its right of way clear of debris.

18.2 Defendant UP was negligent in maintaining its culvert and its drainage system on its right of way by:

- (a) not protecting its culvert from accumulating debris with trash racks,
- (b) not keeping its drainage system and culvert in compliance with the applicable hydraulic criteria,
- (c) not installing a head wall, wing walls, or apron slab around its culvert to improve the hydraulic performance of its culvert,
- (d) not relining the inside of its culvert to improve the hydraulic performance of its culvert,
- (e) not installing riprap around its culvert to protect the drainage structure from collapse due to rising water or heavy rainfall,
- (f) not repairing its culvert,
- (g) not replacing its culvert,
- (h) not enlarging its culvert, or
- (i) not adding more culverts, none of which would have unreasonably burdened or interfered with rail transportation.

18.3 Defendant UP was negligent in not constructing, maintaining, or modifying its 26-foot-high earthen embankment or railroad berm so natural creek, drainage, or storm waters could continue to pass through its easement without being diverted or impounded and flooding the adjoining neighborhood.

18.4 Defendant UP was negligent in inspecting its culvert and drainage system before or during the rain storm in question.

18.5 Defendant UP was negligent in not marking its culvert with a sign beside its railroad tracks so that its employees could find, observe, or inspect its culvert.

18.6 Defendant UP was negligent in controlling the vegetation around its culvert so that:

- (a) it did not obstruct its culvert, and
- (b) its employees could conduct adequate visual inspections of its culvert.

18.7 If Defendant UP ever inspected its culvert, Defendant was negligent in hiring, training, or supervising the persons conducting these inspections.

18.8 Defendant UP was negligent in discarding its debris onto its culvert or into its drainage ditch which eventually blocked its culvert.

18.9 Defendant UP was negligent in not monitoring the waterflow through its drainage system and culvert before or during the rain storm in question.

18.10 Defendant UP was negligent in not performing a complete hydrologic and hydraulic study of its drainage system and culvert during the relevant time period.

18.11 Defendant UP was negligent in failing to warn the decedents and the Plaintiffs residing on Timber Drive that its drainage system was not adequate to protect their lives or property.

18.12 Defendant UP's violations of administrative regulations, city ordinances, the legislative enactment and its own safety plans, rules, and standards, and its conduct as set forth herein or otherwise, constituted negligence by act or omission, each of which was a proximate cause of the flood, nuisance, property damage, and deaths in question and Plaintiffs' resulting damages.

18.13 Defendant UP's liability for negligent acts and omissions is direct or vicarious and the doctrine of respondeat superior is invoked where applicable.

19. Negligent Undertaking Claim

19.1 If Defendant UP ever undertook to replace its culvert, it knew or should have known that enlarging its culvert or drainage system might be necessary to protect the adjoining subdivision, the decedents, and the surviving Plaintiffs residing on Timber Drive.

19.2 If Defendant UP ever undertook to replace its culvert, it was negligent in replacing its culvert with only one culvert or a culvert that was not large enough to safely accommodate the maximum anticipated waterflow for the projected life of the culvert.

19.3 The adjoining subdivision and the Plaintiffs and decedents residing on Timber Drive relied on Defendant UP to reasonably and adequately perform this undertaking.

19.4 The negligence of Defendant UP in performing this undertaking was a proximate cause of the flood, nuisance, property damage, and deaths in question and Plaintiffs' resulting damages.

20. Wrongful Death and Survival Claims

20.1 Plaintiff Jannie Hudnall has suffered damages in the past and in the future because of the death of her daughter, Lenda Hudnall Asberry, including pecuniary loss and mental anguish and loss of her daughter's companionship and society.

20.2 Plaintiffs Demeia Johnson, Daniel Hudnall, Demonicia Johnson, and Joe Asberry have suffered damages in the past and in the future because of the death of their mother, Lenda Hudnall Asberry, including pecuniary loss and mental anguish and loss of their mother's companionship and society.

20.3 As the Personal Representative, Plaintiff Demeia Johnson may collect damages on behalf of the late Lenda Hudnall Asberry, Vonnaejah Sari-Nicole Johnson, De'Vonte Antoine Johnson, VonAnthony Darnell Watkins, Jr., and Ja'Monica La'Shay Johnson and their estates, including compensation for the decedents' physical pain and mental anguish from

22.1 Defendant's negligent and intentional acts or omissions created a private nuisance or condition that substantially interfered and continues to substantially interfere with the Plaintiffs' and Intervenor's use and enjoyment of their homes by causing an unreasonable discomfort or annoyance to persons of ordinary sensibilities attempting to use and enjoy such homes.

22.2 Plaintiffs Carolyn Anthony, Johnny Anthony, Katrina Anthony, Linda Buckley, Henry Buckley, Berto Clark, Lisa Davis, Jimmy Davis, Deffnie Franks, Jamie Handsborough, Semetra Handsborough, Gloria Henry, Lucky Henry, Gerald Jordan, Wanda Moore, Concepcion Ramirez, Lillie Stephens, Matthew Stevens, Garland Wilson, and Jannie Wilson, and Intervenor's Metra White and Tony Handsborough, and the minors whom the Plaintiffs represent were physically assaulted in their homes by the physical impact of the rapidly rising and swirling flood waters which threatened to drown them and to destroy their property.

22.3 Said Plaintiffs and Intervenors and the minors whom they represent were physically driven from their homes in the middle of the night by a well-founded apprehension of danger by drowning and they contemporaneously perceived the drowning deaths of their neighbors.

22.4 Said Plaintiffs and Intervenors and the minors whom they represent suffered psychological harm to their peace of mind in the use and enjoyment of their homes, mental anguish, emotional distress, fear, apprehension, offense, discomfort, and annoyance as well as bodily injuries in the nature of cuts, scrapes, bruises, sprains, and strains.
